Lima

Lima, the capital of Peru, is located along the country's arid Pacific coast. While its colonial center is carefully preserved, Lima thrives as a dynamic metropolis and one of the largest cities in South America. The city is home to the renowned Museo Larco, which houses an extensive collection of pre-Columbian art, offering a deep dive into the history of Peru's ancient civilizations. At the heart of Lima's historic center lies the Plaza de Armas, a vibrant landmark that encapsulates the essence of the city's colonial past.

Cusco

The city of Cusco is undoubtedly one of Peru's most significant destinations. Its cobblestone streets are lined with Incan buildings waiting to be discovered. The enigmatic Machu Picchu, "The Lost City of the Incas," stands as the most remarkable and beautiful legacy of ancient Peru. Part of the Historic Sanctuary of "Machu Picchu", which was recently named one of the "New Seven Wonders of the World", this awe-inspiring site sits atop a mountain, surrounded by lush nature, making it a truly unique place on earth. Built around 1450, Machu Picchu showcases the classic Inca architectural style, with its polished dry-stone walls. The site's key structures include the Intihuatana, the Temple of the Sun, and the Room of the Three Windows. A short drive further brings you to the archaeological sites of Qenqo, Puka-Pukara, and Tambomachay—ancient Incan structures built entirely from stone.

Testimonials

"Our trip to Peru was nothing short of spectacular—an unforgettable blend of breathtaking sights, rich culture, and exceptional planning. From the moment we arrived, every detail was meticulously taken care of by Ayelet, making the experience stress-free and seamless. The highlight, of course, was our visit to Machu Picchu—a magical place that lived up to our expectations. Equally impressive were the vibrant streets of Cusco, the serene Sacred Valley, and the bustling charm of Lima. Each destination offered something unique, from colonial architecture to Incan history to stunning natural landscapes. A true standout of the trip was the kosher Peruvian cuisine—absolutely delicious and beautifully presented. We enjoyed authentic, flavorful, plentiful dishes like quinoa stews, grilled meats, fresh ceviche alternatives, and native fruits, all prepared under reliable kosher supervision. It was such a delight to explore local food without compromise. This was a fun-filled, bucket-list vacation with just the right balance of adventure, culture, and comfort, including stays at beautiful hotels. Whether hiking the Andes, exploring colorful markets, or enjoying a relaxing Shabbat with warm local Chabad hospitality, every moment was thoughtfully curated and unforgettable. Peru is a not-to-miss destination—especially when done right. I would highly recommend this experience to anyone looking for a meaningful, exciting, and kosher-friendly adventure!"
